

WEEK 1: UNDERSTAND The 8 TYPES OF TV SHOWS & LEARN YOUR CASTABILITY

When the camera cuts to you, the audience must know exactly [who you are] before you even speak, just by the way you look and how you are dressed. Learn “your type” and how to best use that information to book your next gig.

PREP: Come with a pen and paper. Be ready to tell about yourself for the workshop today.

WEEK 2: TELEVISION: SITCOM

We focus on auditioning for film/TV, blocking, being screened properly, emotional and character development, using props, scene study, fine tune slating, bios, being re-directed in a scene, following directors lead, preparing a performance multiple way, and building stage presence.

PREP: Memorize a 1 minute sitcom scene.

WEEK 3: TELEVISION: DRAMA

Each class is filmed and the actor will see her/himself on tape and be able to grow faster with immediate and honest feedback. Create characters of authenticity and originality by combining assured script analysis with moments of spontaneity.

PREP: Memorize a 1 minute dramatic TV scene.

WEEK 4: TELEVISION: COMEDY

This fun, high-energy class teaches your teen all the ins and outs of TV comedy. Using scripts from some of their favorite Disney & Nickelodeon shows, budding actors will learn the secret techniques for finding the funny, that have our actors book hundreds of roles.

PREP: Memorize a 1 minute TV comedic scene.

WEEK 5: TV HOSTING

This workshop will provide the tools to create a hosting demo reel either on zoom or our acclaimed in-studio green screen. (For all ages: kids, teens, adults).

PREP: Memorize a 1 minute hosting style clip.

WEEK 6: VOICE OVER

Create a VO demo reel in our “recording studio”. Learn lingo, techniques, types of VO demos, correct pacing/enunciation, and much more. Understand subtext, beats, and transitions. Learn how to identify your physical and vocal triggers.
